

Two Dollars a year, in advance.

Massillon, Wednesday, March 16.

The annual election took place last Tuesday (8th inst.) in New Hampshire, the first of the year. Four parties had up candidates, republicans, democrats, temperance men, and the working men. The republicans elected the governor by a majority of some 1200 over all opposition, and have both branches of the legislature by large majorities. This indicates that the president's policy is well received in the granite state.

BAYARD TAYLOR.—This eminent lecturer is now in the east. A writer in a late number of the Anti Slavery Standard severely criticised his sneers and jibes at the temperance cause when speaking at Boston. This writer seems to think that Mr. T. has a hankering for liquor, or he would not speak in commendation of its use. When here some months ago, in his lecture in Madison Hall, he incidentally made a thrust at the cause of temperance, but so guarded and indirect as to be scarcely noticed, yet it showed where his sympathies were, on this point; and the more recent demonstration tends but to confirm the suspicion that all is not right. Men as great as he have fallen from high positions as he has occupied, and unless Mr. T. quits such a habit he may see trouble from the toils of the serpent.

Mike, whose brother was to be hung, said he saved his life by dying in prison. Congress has lately been looking after members who have been charged with receiving bribes for cadetships. One Whittemore, of S. C., was uncharged, but before congress acted of his case he resigned. He did not save his office by resigning, but it is supposed he got the bribe. Several others are being looked after, and one of them tried resignation, but his governor would not accept it. So he will have to stand the test. Mr. Mungen, the Ohio repudiator, is reported to be on the list of cadet speculators. He is reported to be a great fiddler, and may so ruin his bow as to play out of the dilemma.

Away out in Wyoming, where women have the right to vote, in one of the counties where court was lately convened, some half dozen or more women were on the grand jury. The judge being a gentleman and a scholar, made no objection, but proceeded in the performance of his duties, just as if nobody but men were on the jury. It is not probable that justice will suffer much at the hands of this jury, but if there are any goghs in their way they had better look a little out.

If the ladies get the right to vote, they will have to assume all the other responsibilities, such as working on the roads, doing military service, and swearing to their ages before they are allowed the privilege of the elective franchise.

The above item and others of a similar character, are often to be seen going the rounds of the newspapers these days. With the class which think it a brilliant idea it is regarded a conclusive argument against women voting. Arguments are or ought to be based on reason. One reason here assumed by the negative on this question is, that if women would vote they must work on the roads with shovels, pick-axes, &c. Another, they must perform military duty,—and they must swear to their ages. These are about as heavy arguments as that side can produce. I what do they amount to? If a woman don't work on the road, perform military duty and swear to her age, she shall not vote. Were these the needed qualifications for voters how many men would be deprived of this privilege? A pretty large majority of those who do go to the polls. With as much reason it might be urged, that because a great many men swear, get drunk, fight and abuse each other, yet are voters, therefore, women to enjoy the franchise, must also swear, get drunk, fight, and be ugly generally. The last named reasons are just as weighty as those quoted at the beginning of this article, and who is willing to be governed by them? The model politicians of a certain class are to be found in New York, where they keep gambling and drinking dens, where robbery and murder are the rule and honesty and humanity the exception. These make politics a trade, furnish voters by the hundreds or thousands in the way of repeaters, and carry elections to suit this sort of corrupting influence. Because these do so, if women would vote they must follow their example, or not have a voice in the government which rules them. If those who oppose women's suffrage can give better reasons than the above—and they would if they had them—they had better abandon the controversy, so they are bound to be beaten anyhow.

BLANK LEASES FOR SALE.

In Ohio there are 10,838 miles of telegraph wire, 345 offices, and 430 operators.

A Canton address, "to the people of Stark Co" twice published in the last issue of the Democrat says, "the majority of the hills (about Canton) are pregnant with coal and paint for delivery." Paint on, ye mounds of bitumen, for it is yet in doubt whether pitch or asphaltum leaves your surface, or embast inflates the genius of your guardians.

HUMILITY.—The same well published address says, "how humiliating or reproachful to see a freight train arriving from the west, with walnut or similar timbers consigned to some manufacturers in New England, New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore, and within an hour afterwards, notice like train arrive from the east, packed full of hotel, parlor household furniture, chairs, &c., manufactured in the places, from raw materials obtained as stated, consigned to the Macks and the Jacks or other such virtually commission houses here."

Of course it is to be inferred that the logs were taken east, sawed, kiln dried and manufactured into furniture, by the enterprising eastern establishments inside of the hour that the author of the address stood on the platform.

Prospect Hill Nursery Farm For Sale.—Containing 40 acres—beautifully located, overlooking town and country, remarkably healthy, with abundance of pure, soft water, great variety of fruits. Admirably adapted for dividing into lots. In every respect the most desirable location in this county. Will sell the whole tract or divided to suit purchasers. For terms, address, S. B. NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned will present to the city council, of the city of Massillon, a petition to vacate

John G. WHITFIELD.
Who, looking back from his manhood's prime,
Sees not the spirit of a past life?
And through the shade
Of former days, standeth thick behind, Hears no far-off whisper on the winds From his loved dead?

Who are no trace of fashion's evil face?
Who shun thy sting, O bitter remorse?
Who do not cast
On the thronged pines of his memory's Book,
At times a sad and half-repentant look,
As if afraid.

As if the evil which we sin would shun We do, and leave the wretched good undone, Our strength to dry
Is but to sin's weak slaves prone to fall; Poor, blind, supine, servants all As we always.

Yet when thus looking backward o'er his Years,
Fits not his eyelids wet with grateful tears, If he hath been Permitted, weak and sinful as he was,
To cheer his semi-angling cause Has it now met?

If he hath hidden the enter'd, or let in A ray of sinning to the cell of sin; If he hath let Strength to the weak in the hour of need, Over the soft ring midges of his creed Or in his seat,

He hath not lived in vain. And while he Lives,
The phase of him in whom he moves and
Lives.
With thankful heart
He giveth reward with hope before, Knowing that from his works he nevermore Can henceforth part.

THE EXTENT OF THE CURSE.

It has been computed that in the United States, there are at the present moment five hundred thousand drunkards, one-tenth, or fifty thousand of which die annually and fill drunkards' graves.

The ravages of war, pestilence and famine do not equal this in the destruction of the human race. The war of 1812 destroyed but five hundred a year. Intemperance destroys more than the hundred a week! The yellow fever of 1793, that alarmed the world, ent off but four thousand victims. In France, we are told that one third of the population are engrossed in the production or sale of intoxicating drinks, and that three hundred thousand Frenchmen die annually of intemperance alone.

In Great Britain, eighty thousand perish from the same cause. We find then that in the three most enlightened countries in the world, nearly half a million beings are annually cut off by this greatest of all destroyers. These victims would form an army more numerous and powerful than Napoleon in his glory dreamed of—Era.

Dr. Johnson used to say, 'He who waits to do a great deal of good at once, will never do any.'

The mouth of a wise man is in his heart, the heart of a fool is in his mouth, because what he knoweth or thinketh he uttereth.

Harmless mirth is the best cordial against the consumption of the spirits; wherefore jesting is not unlawful if it trespasseth not in quantity, quality, or season.

A tavern beaster the other day, vaunting his knowledge of the world, was asked by a wag at his elbow, if he had been in Algebra.

'Oh, yes,' said he, 'I once passed through it on top of a sage.'

Dr. Johnson, Mrs. Thrale, and two other ladies once formed a party at whist, and amused themselves in play-for a considerable portion of the evening.
At the conclusion Mrs. Thrale asked the Doctor if he had lost anything. 'Only my time, madam,' replied the moralist.

'M'm, can you give me a glass of grog?' said a traveller in Arkansas as he entered a cabin by the roadside. 'I ain't got a drop, stranger.' 'But a gentleman told me just now that you had received a barrel.' 'Why! what do you reckon one barrel of whisky is to me and my children when we are out of milk?'

A Sunday school teacher at Warren, Mass., promises the boy who acts the best during the year, and commits the most Testament, a meerschaum pipe.

A Virginia clergyman has convinced himself that it is his duty to preach all day; but it is difficult to persuade his parishioners that it is their duty to listen for the same period.

A young divorce-seeking colored woman of Chicago, plead her own case as follows: 'Judge, can't love dat dar nigger; he tickled me in the ribs once till he loosened all my insides.'

Gen. Butler on Saturday appointed Charles Sumner Wilson, of Salem, Massachusetts, a colored boy, to a cadet-ship at West Point. This is the first colored boy ever appointed to a cadet-ship.

A Pennsylvania farmer writes to his country paper that he cured his daughter of the Greenbriar by pouring water on her and holding her in the sun until she waded back again.

and two other ladies once formed a party at whist, and amicably themselves in play for a considerable portion of the evening.

plied the medical.

"My time, can you give me a glass of grog?" said a traveler in Arkansas as

A Sunday school teacher at Warren,

best during the year, and commits the

most Testament, a meerschaum pipe.

duty to listen for the same period.

A young divorce-seeking colored

case as follows: "Judge, can't love dat dar nigger; he kicked me in the ribs once 'till he loosened all my insides."

Gen. Butler on Saturday appointed

Charles Sumner Wilson, of Salem, Massachusetts, a colored boy, to a cadet-ship at West Point. This is the first

ship.

of the Greek bond by pouring water on her and holding her in the sun until she warmed back again.
